News Release

Gary Yesavage Named President of Chevron Global Manufacturing

EL SEGUNDO, California, March 17, 2009 – Gary Yesavage, currently general manager of Chevron’s El Segundo refinery, has been appointed president of Chevron Global Manufacturing. In his new role, Mr. Yesavage will be responsible for leading the company's worldwide manufacturing operations with a team of 5,500 employees in eight countries. Global Manufacturing is comprised of 16 refineries worldwide, seven of which are wholly owned and nine joint ventures. The total processing capacity for these refineries is over 2.3 million barrels per day. Mr. Yesavage is scheduled to begin in his new role on May 1.

Mr. Yesavage, who received a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemical Engineering from Newark (New Jersey) College of Engineering in 1974, has worked for Chevron for nearly 35 years. During the course of his career he has held a variety of manufacturing assignments in locations including Perth Amboy, New Jersey; Belle Chase, Louisiana; Richmond, San Francisco and San Ramon, California; St. James, Louisiana; Port Arthur, Texas and most recently, El Segundo, where the Yesavage family has resided for over nine years. Mr. Yesavage currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Chevron Philips Chemical Company as well as the Chair of the Board of the Western States Petroleum Association.

Mr. Yesavage has been very active in the communities in which he’s lived, serving as a board member to various organizations and associations. Mr. Yesavage and his wife of 34 years, Robin, have two children. Their daughter, Sarah, is married and lives in Texas where she is an industrial engineer for Office Depot. Their son, Stephen, is currently a freshman at Bishop Montgomery High School, and is active in ice hockey as a goaltender.

Mr. Yesavage is taking over the job of president from Jeet Bindra, who is retiring from Chevron after 32 years with the company.
